Hugel from Alsace is a ‘Must’ among great wines

Founded in 1639, Famille Hugel is considered today as an iconic winery from Alsace despite its modest size. Present in practically every great restaurant in France, about 80% of “Hugel” wines are exported, to more than 100 countries. The Hugel family was elected by its peers to be part of the “primum Familiae Vini”, an association of 12 family wine companies in the major wine producing regions of the world.

BORDEAUX, FRANCE

‘A House, A Story’

Girondine house was completed in 1919, after WW1. Subsequent generations developed the vineyard until the mid-1900s. However, in 1956 the Great French Wine Blight destroyed the last owner’s 40 Ha of vines. Having no heirs, he abandoned the fruit of this clay soil laden with limestone and silica. In 1979, LE POTTIER family, of Breton and Dutch descent, moved into the bare property and planted their first vines in 1986. 40 years have passed since the redevelopment of the vineyard. Today, Le Pottier vineyards are proud to perpetuate the wine-making traditions of Bordeaux in order to bring you quality wines and an environmentally-friendly approach.

CHÂTEAU DE PARENCHÈRE
 ‘Rises in the Heart of a Green and Hilly Landscape of Saint-Emilion’

A particularly rich Terroir in Bordeaux, composed of clay-limestone with a high clay content, offering good strength to the wines produced. On this vast estate of 188 Ha, only 69 Ha of which the oldest vines are over 50 years old, are selected to assemble a beautiful vineyard. The Château values “Sustainable Agriculture” to provide quality and respect for the environment, resulting in a certification for High Environmental Value – level 3 (the highest level of qualification).

The practices are primarily designed to protect the soil; including growing grass between the rows, traditional tilling, sparing applications of pesticides and organic fertilizers restrained to the strictest need of the vine.

CHÂTEAU DE PARENCHÈRE
 Bordeaux Supérieur

Available End-April 2022

- 👁 Intense ruby red
- 👄 Full-bodied, fleshy and round with an underlying structure. Intense red fruit aromas (blackcurrant and black cherry) and elegant soft tannins. There is a great balance between this ripe fruit expression and the wine’s freshness

BEAUJOLAIS, FRANCE

1590 Morgon | Domaines Dominique Piron

DOMINIQUE PIRON

‘14th Generation of Winegrowers in The Family!’

In the late 1900s, vintners of Beaujolais decided to overturn their reputation for this ancient corner of France, and wineries such as Dominique Piron were leading the unstoppable stampede towards success, style and newfound glory. Once winemakers across the region realised that they had valuable high-quality vines growing on pristine vineyards as far back to Roman France, all the pieces fell easily into place. Smaller yields, more natural processes, reduced use of oak. These were the key elements for the 21st century Beaujolais that Dominique Piron championed!

BURGUNDY, FRANCE

DOMAINE JESSIAUME
'Made Respectfully with Minimal Intervention'

The Domaine was first created in 1850 by the Jessiaume family where the wines were made at the Chateau. From 2006, it was owned by a Scottish businessman who recently sold it to Dr Jean-François Le Bigot, a Parisian biochemist, with a passion for Burgundy wine.

From then, new investments in the wine crafting are implemented, leading the vines and the wines to be certified organic. The harvest and sorting are done by hand, vinifications with natural yeasts and the extractions are gentle and controlled as well as the use of a strict selection of barrels from the best barrel makers.

DOMAINE BONNARDOT

Domaine Bonnardot is a family estate in Bonnecontre, near the Citeaux Abbey. The family has a long heritage of winemaking in the area dating back to 1470. Today Ludovic Bonnardot, now guides the winemaking at the estate. He prefers not to add sulfur to his wines . After joining the estate in 2005 he began 2006 to convert the 15 hectares, situated between Pommard and Santenay, to purely organic farming.

CHATEAU DU CEDRE
'Leader of The Cahors Appellation'

Founded in 1950's in the Lot region by Léon Verhaeghe. Leon's son, Charles, was a sort of pioneer in that he planted vines on the poor stony soils of the Cahors appellation, at a time when everyone else was mass producing wines on fertile plains. The first Château du Cèdre wines were sold in 1973. Pascal and Jean-Marc, who've been running the estate since 1988, have continued in the same vein and have perfected the approach, with their meticulous work in the vineyard and the cellar making this estate the unchallenged leader of the Cahors appellation for the last 30 years. After over a decade of practicing organic farming, they are certified organic in 2012

TORRESELLA ‘A Wine From Venice’

A unique region lying between water and mountains with thousands of years of tradition behind it. Torreseella – a village not far from the Venetian Lagoon – it is a land where agriculture is deeply rooted in the social and cultural life. The vineyards extend out from Torreseella village towards the sea of the Venice lagoon. The soil is rich in minerals and clay. Summers are very hot, with little variation between daytime and nighttime temperatures, but cooled by the constant sea breezes, which add a rich salty note to the air.

Torreseella’s farming practices respect biodiversity and permits the flora and fauna of the ecosystem to protect the vines, as well as being free of chemical use.

AVIGNONESI
‘Life Through A Glass’

Avignonesi is located in southeastern Tuscany surrounding the hill town of Montepulciano. Conceived in 1974 and named after a member of the founding family, Avignonesi was acquired in 2009 by Virginie Saverys, who has worked tirelessly since then to convert the entire property to organic and biodynamic viticulture. Thus, effectively expressing what is truly Tuscany without any interface of toxic products. Besides viticulture, Avignonesi currently cultivates ancient grains, has a vegetable synergistic garden, has its own compost, and keeps bees, all of which are farmed biodynamically. Since spring 2018 there are also a few sheep grazing in the vineyards. This holistic and regenerative sustainable farming system focuses on the health of the soil, the integration of local flora and fauna, and biodiversity.

CIABOT BERTON

CIABOT BERTON
'The Finest Crus of La Morra, Rive'

A family estate since 1876, it began to specialise in the cultivation of the vineyard in the late 50s and in 1961, the first vintage of Barolo was bottled. The name stems from the small building (ciabot, in Piedmontese) found on the site, that caught fire. Even today, from the cellar you can see the ruins of the building after which the winery is named.

Alongside the Barolo of Ciabot Berton, synonymous for over 30 years with elegance and finesse among the Barolo made in La Morra, the estate began producing the first single-vineyard Barolo, selecting plots of old vines in the Roggeri cru. They vinify the various plots of land separately, one grape variety at a time, to fully enhance the personality of the terroir.

GORU FROM JUMILLA 'Protected Designation of Origin'

The founders of Ego Bodegas have been bound to the wine world for more than a decade. They are fascinated by the land with the magical combination of its soil and native grape variety, Monastrell.

For ten years, they have devoted themselves to find the best vineyards and obtaining the best fruit possible, to make the liquid that as Socrates said, brings us a sweet joy.

Each bottle of wine from Egobodegas carries the principles on which the winery was founded upon: Ego, Talento, and Infinito. Ego : The concept of I, Talento : The ability to perform and carry out a task, Infinito : The power to dream without borders

AVGVSTVS FORVM WINERY

Located less than 3 Kilometers from the Mediterranean Sea, within the Penedés DO, Avgvstvs Forvm winery has grapevines running up the ancient Roman street, Via Augusta. This very special microclimate is heavily influenced by a persistent Mediterranean breeze. This winery cultivates red grape varieties -Syrah, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Cabernet Franc- along with white wine grape varieties. The red wines from the Augustus Forvm winery are all aged in French oak barrels from Nevers. The ageing in barrel varies between vintages from 17 months for their Cabernet Sauvignon-Merlot to 30 months for Trajanvs Reserva.

CHAIN OF PONDS: ‘Every Wine Tells a Story’

Established in 1985 on the outskirts of Gumeracha, with the first vintage dating back to 1988. While vineyards have been part of the area’s makeup since colonisation, the Winery was the first major planting of any note in the northern area of the Adelaide Hills Wine region. In more recent times, the winery has extended vineyard boundaries to source fruit from a broader area of the region, allowing for greater varietal distinction and complexity.

CREATED BY NATURE. CRAFTED BY HUMANS.

VINACEOUS
'A Contemporary Australian Wine'

The 2017 Raconteur is sourced from mature vines located in Wilyabrup, Margaret River; these old vines are hand-harvested and made using traditional techniques by Vinaceous winemakers. Hand-picked, open fermented. Cabernet Sauvignon from Carl Linder's 80 year old Barossa Vineyards. Basket pressed into some 25% new oak barriques (French & American) to finish fermentation. 14 - 16 months maturation in the same oak. Vinified by Elena Brooks, fined, blended and bottled by Vinaceous Wines.

Don't tell Gary.

DON'T TELL GARY! 'This Wine is a Labour of Love'

In 2014, winemaker Jo Nash discovered an exceptional parcel of Shiraz which was gently crushed then stored away in some premium French Oak barrels to age for 12 months. The wine speaks for itself - minimal intervention, purity of fruit, Shiraz at its best. Made by a winemaker. Enjoy with abandon. Just....Don't tell Gary.

PUNTI FERRER

‘Flavors that go from the Mountain to the Coast’

In Rapel Valley, benefitting from the protected and fertile middle depression that generates between the Andes mountain range and the Coastal mountain range, is where Puntí Ferrer vineyards rest, el Huique (Colchagua) and Santa Amalia (Cachapoal). Here is where the grapes are born, generous fruits that are given by the earth, that give life to these precious wines.

CRAFT BEER

MONTEITH'S 'New Zealand Craft Beer'

In 1990, Monteith's Ale was one of the only remaining brands from the Westland Brewery. History clearly showed that the Monteith family and their brews were at the core of what had been Westland Brewing Company and its predecessor, Phoenix Brewery. Therefore, it was decided to officially name the brewery Monteith's Brewing Company at this time. 'Since 1868' was established as part of the new Monteith's logo and has been used in all communications ever since.

MINERAL WATER

SAN BERNARDO

Founded in 1926 in the Maritime Alps, Italy. San Bernardo mineral water was known as the "Miraculous Source of St. Bernard" by the locals, the first to benefit from the therapeutic properties of this water and to appreciate its particular lightness, low content of sodium, potassium, magnesium and a reduced fixed residue which place it among the minimally mineralized waters. The sparkling version, with a light and unmistakable gassing, is the natural complement of taste.
